Umama Munazha A

'She and Sea' is about the struggle for love that she needs and a person who has confidence in herself. She believes but has no hope within her. That everything will be changed and one day she might face all the consequences with the changing love which she never gets but shown toward others. The place where she showed her sorrow is 'Sea'. The Goddess of the sea also has the same mentality towards the human race . Both their personalities made them join together in the name of 'Sunset'. This book teaches the Children not to show partiality on other races, show equality, one must not feel wrong on his/her self and the promise should be always kept.

Elakkiya Selvaraj

'The Sea Angel' illustrates the life story of Dolly, the dolphin. The story focuses on the brave and kind dolphin that doesn't listen to the words of its parents when it is grown. The dolphin finally faces the consequence of not listening to its parents' words at a dolphinarium, where her entire life got stuck. The story teaches a moral lesson to the kids of the tender age. It is a must read book for kids as it teaches them to obey parents' words and spread love.

Priyanga Soundar

'In the Orche' is about the discrimination made by a fruit based on the other fruits' color, shape and taste. Spark, the little angel is the caretaker of the garden. During the conflict between the fruits, She made them realize, "Everyone is best in their own way". The illustrations in the book are interesting. Each emotion is depicted clearly. This book teaches the children to avoid discrimination and encourages equality.
